Mrs. W. D. Burgan, Bluffton; broken leg and numerous body wounds.
B. Corkwell, Ft. Wayne, motorman; scalp wounds.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 22.—Forty-two persons were killed in an interurban trolley wreck between Bluffton and Ft. Wayne yesterday afternoon. Just what caused the wreck no one seems to know. At least no one yet has offered a clear explanation.
At 11:56, if the train left on schedule, a regular train, consisting of one car, left Bluffton for Ft. Wayne. At practically the same hour, a single motor car left Ft. Wayne for Bluffton empty, to pick up a load of passengers to bring back to Ft. Wayne for the county fair at Ft. Wayne.
Some one made a mistake. At Kingsland, 15 miles south of Ft. Wayne, the cars met.
Those who were in the accident can tell little of what actually occurred. In the extra car were no passengers. In the regular local were probably 35 or 40 persons. Of these few escaped death or injury.
The northbound car was in charge of Motorman C. Vandine and Conductor E. A. Spiller, the southbound car in charge of Benjamin Corkwell and Conductor Daniel Wilson.
In this one of the most terrific railroad accidents in recent history, there was every setting to make for peacefulness and calm. The spot at which the cars came together was in the midst of fields. On each side farmers were plowing their fields.
Literally, men deserted their plow handles to run to the aid of the injured.
The accident occurred on a curve. On both sides, particularly on that tangent approaching from the north, there was a curve, screened by dense woods. Bearing down from the north came the heavier, yet empty passenger car. Speeding toward Ft. Wayne was the coach filled with men and women bent on a merry-making of a day or two at the Allen county fair.

Out of the ends of this short curve near Kingsland, 18 miles south of Ft. Wayne, came the two cars. It was only a flash; a breath. The cars were together. The southbound car seemed to take the right of way. Like a giant missile it ploughed its way through the traffic-jacked coach coming in the opposite direction. Its heavier frame cut like a keen knife a pathway half the length of the opposing vehicle. It cut off seats an inch above the floor and smashed and packed in one ghastly mass the whole interior of the car seats, overhead baskets, lighting fixtures, luggage and the bodies of two score passengers.

In the northbound cars were only a few capable of giving aid to the dying. They did what they could, and from the fields came farmers who had witnessed the accident, or who had

In New York Raided Last Night and Resort Keepers Are Under Arrest.

New York, Sept. 22.—One of the largest raids in the history of the district was made in the Tenderloin last night. The raid was made on warrants procured by the plain clothes squad of young policemen. Many resort keepers offered cash to be liberated and additional charges of attempted bribery are entertained against them. The raid disclosed a new graft. Of late men have been levying blackmail in the district by impersonating investigators from police headquarters.

SEVEN KILLED BY LIGHTNING.
Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 22.—As the result of an electrical storm in the mountains last night, six men and one woman are dead today. They were struck by lightning.

SENATOR ELKINS RECOVERING.
Elkins, W. Va., Sept. 22.—Senator Elkins is recovering from a slight attack of malaria fever and denies that he was at any time seriously ill.

POLICE GRAFTING AT CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, Sept. 22.—The investigation into alleged police graft here today brought out a confession from a policeman that he had eaten meals furnished without charge at two gambling houses. Safety Director Small says that while watching one place he saw the proprietor hand something to the policeman on the beat.
He says policemen stationed near the place made no effort to stop the gambling. Charges that James Milligan, saloon keeper, paid $20 a week for police protection will be taken up later.

FUND NEAR $5,000 MARK

The teams of the Y. M. C. A. engaged in the campaign to raise $10,000 by Friday night have been hustling hard and up until Thursday noon had raised a total of $1,048, leaving $8,952 to be raised by Friday evening. This surely will require some hustling.
At the noon luncheon today the following report was made: Team No. 1, E. S. Lindolph, captain, $122; total to date, $1,119. Team No. 2, J. A. Flory, captain, $110; total to date, $55. Team No. 3, J. N. Pugh, captain, $310; total to date, $851. Team No. 4, Metz-Bennett, $164; total to date, $1,282.
Revs. Cosgrove, Warner, Dillen, Holcombe and Vernon were present at the luncheon and were greatly interested in the changes and in the outlook for a bigger and better Y. M. C. A.

GOV. HARMON

Will Do No Campaigning Outside of Ohio—Monnett Would Probe
the Leak.

Columbus, Sept. 22.—It was stated at the governor's office today that Governor Harmon will do no campaigning outside Ohio this fall. He thinks he has his hands full here and that the opposition would charge him with laying plans for 1912 if he should leave the state.
Frank Monnett, candidate for congress, is telling voters that if elected the first thing he will do will be to introduce a resolution asking for an investigation to find out how advance information of the government railroad suit leaked out and enabled some Wall street operators to clean up $100,000,000.

LETTERS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Storer-Roosevelt Controversy Again in the Limelight

ARCHBISHOP AS WITNESS

Will be Used in the Issue of Veracity Between the Principals.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 22.—The Republican today prints a letter from Mrs. Bellamy Storer, written in France, Sept. 6, reviewing the controversy between the Storer and Mr. Roosevelt concerning the former president's alleged authorization of the former ambassador to Austria-Hungary to visit Pope Pius X. and ask him as a personal favor to the president of the United States to make Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul a cardinal.

Letters written by the archbishop in 1903 and 1904, hitherto unpublished, are quoted by Mrs. Storer to show that at repeated interviews in the White House between the archbishop and the president, Mr. Roosevelt acknowledged that he had commissioned Mr. Storer to act as his personal envoy at the Vatican in behalf of the archbishop.

Mr. Roosevelt has hitherto publicly denied that Mr. Storer was ever authorized to represent him in this manner, and the Ireland letters now published by Mrs. Storer have the effect of making much sharper the issue of veracity between the Storer and the ex-president.

Mrs. Storer's letter to the Republican seeks to prove, on the testimony of Archbishop Ireland, that President Roosevelt promised to make Mr. Storer ambassador either at Paris or London; and there is included still another letter alleged to have been written by Mr. Roosevelt to Mr. Storer just after the presidential election in 1896, in which Mr. Roosevelt asked Mr. Storer to see President-elect McKinley and urge him to appoint Mr. Roosevelt assistant secretary of the navy.

This last letter seems to confute a recent assertion that Mr. Roosevelt never sought a public office except when he sought a presidential nomination in 1904.

The first letter by Archbishop Ireland quoted by Mrs. Storer, written to Mr. Storer Nov. 3, 1901, is in part as follows:

"I have had two most pleasant meetings with the president at the White House. He is decidedly your friend and resolved to give you the best there is. 'Even,' said he, 'if Berlin comes first and Bellamy wishes it for a little while, pending Mr. Choate's retention at London, I would give it to him and change him shortly afterward to London. Let him trust Ireland letter, dated Oct. 23, 1903, was written to Mrs. Storer in part as follows:

"I was in Washington last week, and of course saw the president. I spoke with him of Paris and removed from his mind all suspicion that a Catholic would be there a persona (Continued on Page 9, Col. 5.)

RULES AGAINST CHARLTON'S PLEA

Jersey City, Sept. 22.—Porter Charlton lost the opening skirmish in his fight to escape extradition for the confessed murder at Lake Como, Italy, of his wife, Mary Scott Cassie Charlton. Judge Blair, before whom he was arraigned, declined to admit a plea of insanity and took the application for his return under advisement. An attack on the treaty with Italy under which extradition is asked thereupon became the main prop of the defense.

KILLS MAN FOR A DEER.
Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Clifford Judd yesterday shot and killed his brother-in-law, Theron Plumb, mistaking him for a deer. Upon discovering his mistake, Judd was overcome, and is in a serious condition as a result of the shock.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS WILL SOON GATHER IN NEW YORK CONVENTION

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 22.—When the New York state Democratic convention is called to order by State Chairman John A. Dix Thursday, Sept. 29, leaders of the party from all parts of the state will have candidates to present for the governorship and other state offices. The question of whether Mayor Gaynor of Greater New York will consent to accept the nomination has worried his friends and opponents for some time. Mayor Gaynor has mentioned E. M. Shepard as a suitable candidate, but little work has been done in the latter's behalf. William Sulzer has been working actively for

FAILURE OF EFFORT TO ORGANIZE LABOR UNIONS AGAINST GOV. HARMON

Columbus, Sept. 22.—If the promoters of the meeting of 50 delegates representing organized labor through the state, intended to inject the local street car strike into the present political campaign, by administering a rebuke to Governor Harmon, the results of that gathering here yesterday clearly indicate that they failed in their purpose. A resolution was adopted by the body by a unanimous vote, and while it did not commend the governor, it is far from condemning his course in the strike.

As a further proof that a large majority of those assembled were on the side of the governor, a proposed amendment to the resolution offered by Thomas Rogers of Cleveland, business agent for the Pinhook Union of that city, condemning the action of the governor, was tabled unanimously.

This was done after an amendment sounded by E. L. Hitchens, a member of the Typographical Union of Cincinnati. He declared that if the amendment was lost it would be equal to an endorsement of the governor's action.

Throughout the entire resolution there is not a single line that could be construed as being in accord with those who hold and fully expect that the governor's scalp would be taken from the woods to neck. The resolution was adopted, too, after a committee selected by the delegates, called upon the governor to have him release his mind from the stand he has taken several weeks ago, in which he refused to publicly declare for arbitration after he had spent weeks of worry in an attempt to secure a settlement.

It was known by most of those

CLAIMS PRESIDENT HAS PATCHED UP BURTON-COX CONTROVERSY

Cincinnati, Sept. 22.—It is generally understood here today that President Taft has succeeded in establishing a truce in the Burton-Cox controversy. Burton spent the morning with Taft at the Taft home here and those who are in close touch say there will be no rupture such as has threatened the Republican party this fall. Burton would not discuss the the nomination, and Thomas M. Osborne, the leader of the Democratic league, is an avowed candidate. William J. Conners, owner of two Buffalo newspapers and former state chairman, will probably have much to say as to who shall lead the party in the campaign this fall.

commendation of the resolution in which the facts as related at the meeting were to be carried back to their unions. It was pointed out to them that this meant a state-wide campaign among organized labor against the governor, and that it was to be carried on under cover.

It was also claimed that the governor's friends packed the meeting with men who were not delegates.

Despite this, it is quite certain from the results that these authorized by their different organizations did not propose to allow politics to enter the meeting. On the other hand, it can be said that had the meeting strongly criticized the governor, a rump gathering would have been held by such delegates as were friendly to him, and the action taken at such a meeting would probably have split organized labor for a time or at least until after the campaign.

FORAKER

May Speak in Ohio and Leaders Fear
Hearst May Take Stump and Tell a Few Things.

Toledo, O., Sept. 22.—Republican leaders are panic-stricken over the announcement here that former Senator Joseph B. Foraker is to take part in the Republican campaign in Ohio and will deliver his initial address in this, the North congressional district, in behalf of J. H. Hamilton, who is a close friend of Foraker. Though for years not friendly to Taft, Mr. Foraker is to make a strenuous defense of the president and of the Republican party platform in Ohio in the state's eyes.

Warren G. Harding, Republican candidate for governor, is also alarmed, is anxious to have Foraker's help in the campaign.
Charles Keating, manager of Hamilton's campaign, claims he has no knowledge of Foraker's date. Hamilton is at Atlantic City.

Republican leaders here, however, claim Foraker's presence can mean only mischief as they fear William Randolph Hearst would accept an invitation to speak here in behalf of Governor Harmon and spring another Standard Oil sensation on Foraker to the detriment of the Republican party.

MAY KISS AND MAKE UP.

Zanesville, O., Sept. 22.—Interested friends say that if Howard Christy and his wife can agree on where they will live a reconciliation will soon follow. Mrs. Christy is still a guest at the Christy home and says she feels perfectly at home.
Love is seldom blind to a big bank account.

COMPANY LOOTED BY OFFICIALS

Stockholders of Metropolitan Street Railway
Plundered for Politicians

WIDESPREAD ROBBERY

Probably Covered by Statute of Limitation But Some Offenders
May Be Reached.

New York, Sept. 22.—The responsibility for the shameful looting of the Metropolitan street railway for the benefit of rapacious politicians of both parties may be placed. Attorneys for the plundered stockholders who bought the securities at a high market price only to see their values crumble almost overnight are following the developments of the present legislative investigation with concern and interest. The revelations of the manner in which enormous sums of money were thrown away and the stockholders literally robbed, has not only amazed business circles here, but there is a growing disposition manifest to see if the directors and officers cannot be held personally responsible.

Stock and bonds of the Metropolitan were utilized as investments for trust funds of widows and orphans, many of whom were rendered penniless when the vast system was forced into a receiver's hands. There was a perfunctory investigation, but no one was held responsible and there was no criminal prosecution, then district attorney, William Travers Jerome, claiming he was unable to secure evidence sufficient to convict.

The legislative graft investigation developed, through H. H. Vreeland, who was for years president of the Metropolitan and it made vast contributions to both political parties and it took upon the stock holdings of politicians at a figure where they made a profit, no matter what the market price of the stock.

W. W. Cole, a traction engineer, admitted receiving check for $8000 for the settlement of a claim for personal injuries of a person who did not exist; and this money went into the "yellow dog" fund. These are isolated instances of what is expected to be revealed of the widespread robbery of the stockholders of the company. The attorneys are endeavoring to find out if they cannot force the directors and officials of the company who paid out this money fraudulently to turn it back into the coffers of the corporation.

It is agreed that all of the transactions already shown are covered by the statute of limitation. But it is hoped that it will be possible, now that the committee has books, records and documents showing many of the corporation's deals in its possession, to find some transactions that are within the law. This, it was urged today would furnish a club that might make all who benefited by the looting of the corporation willing to settle to avoid prosecution.

YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE WILL BE OVER WITH

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you, if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, if there is difficulty in reaching after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bit of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas, which sours your entire system, interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Bilioesness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is in different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name—your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pope's Diapiesin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer, five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Little Problems of The Home.

A Husband's Flirtations.

Many a man objects to his wife's flirting, though he has no objections whatever to doing a little in this line himself. He views the matter with the utmost leniency when he is the culprit. In fact, he knows it is only a matter of a little diversion on his part. But he cannot see that his wife might consider her efforts in the same light. When she flirts it becomes at once serious. His jealousy flames. "It must be put a stop to immediately," he thunders.

Then, again, many a man will not object to flirting mildly with a waitress, a salesgirl, the attendant at the Subway news stand. If his conduct does not reach the flirtatious stage he will joke and make remarks to the pretty girl who brings him his lunch day in and out, or the one who daily hands him his morning paper. There is no harm in it, he argues. And neither there is. But watch the red tide of disapproval mount to his face if his wife or sister conducts herself in the same fashion with the man waiter who might happen to attend to her wants in a restaurant, or the one who served her at a news stand. What scathing terms of reproach would be heaped upon her defenseless head when they were without earshot of the aforesaid young man.

All of which, of course, is very strange and illogical and shows that a man's ability to judge fairly or his sense of justice, or something about him, is twisted out of plumb.

The woman who has a husband given to these flirtations does not enjoy the spectacle any more than would be were she the leading performer. But she is apt to take it

NEW HOUSE CLEANER
 Mop Wrung Dry By Turning of Crank, Which Twists It Up.

An improved type of house cleaner has been invented by a Pennsylvania man. It is a mop with an attachment by which it can be wrung dry by the turning of a crank and a device which holds it spread out on the floor. There is a long handle, a course with a metal holder at the bottom. The cloth is removably attached to this holder by wires and the lower part of the holder is so lined that it follows the movement of the mop. Thus, when the cleaner is swabbed over the floor, this section of the apparatus holds it flat and permits it to be used with much more effectiveness than when it is necessary to poke it about in a lump. The upper end of the cloth is attached to a beveled gear, which is operated by a crank. When the mop is to be wrung out, the crank is turned and the gear twists the cloth tightly. A thumb screw back on the crank shaft prevents the crank from turning of other time. This cleaner is useful not only on floors but on ceilings, walls and window.

Robert Tomes, Eastern representative.

Entered as second class matter March 29, 1892, at the postoffice at Newark, Ohio, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

the time his of "peanut politics" from Republican leaders. Every recommendation the governor made was responded to by the partisan Republican leaders with that same hiss of "peanut politics." And the bill which Governor Harmon asked to give him and his successors the power to investigate state offices and institutions, was torn apart and put together in such a mangled form that when it was finally passed it provided only that the governor could name one member of a committee of two, the lieutenant governor to name the other to make such investigations if found necessary, and the bill was so worded that the governor could not even call witnesses to testify. It was such a monstrousity that Governor Harmon vetoed the bill.

Mr. Mooney is very unfortunate in denouncing the charge made in the Democratic platform, for the shield he undertakes to set up between the people and the record of the legislature during its first session is too thin and too gaudy to conceal the truth.

The group must be badly split up when its President and ex-President are engaged in a warfare to the knife on its Vice President.

The strong tendency of Arizona to Democracy in the recent election affords an explanation of the persistence of Roosevelt and Cannon in the scheme of yoking the Territory to New Mexico to form a new State.

The reactionary Republicans are still incapable of fathoming the cause of the Maine landslide. In their confusion they assign every cause but the right one in popular discontent with an iniquitous tariff. The less they can comprehend the reason of their defeat the more they have deceived it.

President Taft wants a couple of millions with which to begin the fortification of the Panama Canal. Nobody knows how much it would cost to complete the fortifications. And yet an international agreement to neutralize the canal, as at Suez, would answer every purpose.

Wall street, with all its proverbial timidity, betrays no panic fears over the near prospect of Democratic resumption of control of the Government. Time was when Wall street would be vehemently howling "Lack of Confidence" if the Taft administration were Democratic.

THE BOY WHOM THE FATHERS OF THE NATION FORGOT

The Y. M. C. A. is NOT a civic institution in the sense that it is supported by taxation. But it is a civic body in that it is doing a civic DUTY and fulfilling a civic NEED. It is as necessary in its field of endeavor as the public school and the state university, because its mission is identical with theirs—the betterment of American citizenship. It is educating boys to be strong in BRAIN, strong in BODY and strong in SOUL. It is giving them culture in its EDUCATIONAL CLASSES—those, sinew and good red blood in its GYMNASIUM, morality in its ETHICAL COURSES. It is helping them to be BRIGHTER men as well as BETTER and MIGHTIER men. It has grown to be a powerful factor in city life because the REASON for its existence is POWERFUL—because wisely the fathers of the nation planned the welfare of those who could spend their boyhood in school and at play, they made no provision for the little fellows whose poverty and misfortune burden their childhood with the harness of commerce. As our cities grow, the growth of the Y. M. C. A. must be COMMENSURATE. It has already outgrown resources deemed adequate in Newark twelve years ago. IT CALLS FOR SUPPORT. IT DESERVES support. It makes its appeal with the SAME RIGHT and in the SAME SPIRIT that the state makes upon every just citizen to contribute his share toward a work that knows no creed or nation and would serve all in the name of our common Christian heritage.

A Man of Iron Nerve.
Indomitable will and tremendous energy are never found where stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring use Dr. King's New Life Pills. The matchless regulators for keen brain and strong body. 25c. at F. D. Hall's.

YOU MEN WHO EMPLOY BOYS

In your offices, stores and shops, want THINKERS, not SHRINKERS. Want WORKERS, not SHIRKERS. You'd rather keep men who keep pace with your growth. Such men are worth MOST to you. OHIO REPUBLICANS AND THE MODERN SHERIDAN

(Chicago Examiner.)
If Governor Harmon has other than a political reason for loving his political enemies it must be for the plaudits they have made. Surely no candidate ever went into the field to face a more divided and bewildered foe. There were all sorts of Republicans at the campaign opening in Kenton last Saturday. There were "moderate progressives" of the Harding type. There were "positive progressives" of the Granville W. Moon type and James K. Garfield type. There were stand-patters of the Senator Dick type. And all the time the wily Mr. Cox was sitting quietly at home in Cincinnati, apparently invoking a build plagues on the houses.

But in spite of well-laid plans for harmony Senator Dick was easily the Sheridan of the day. He was not invited to "ride" or to make a speech, but he spoke just the same, and he "rode" to good advantage. A cartoon shows how the gallant Major General and Senator got his horse into action, and how he led a famous charge—not in the direction that had been laid out by the managers of the rally, but at quite a different angle. In plain words, the Republican candidates went to Kenton to "progress" and they remained after they had stopped riding to "standpat."

Truly an inspiring way to begin a campaign which is hoped to counteract the effect of the slaughter in Maine. And the observer of this cartoon will see for himself the painful position in which "standing, the Whirlwind," as Mr. Cox has, perhaps sarcastically, termed him, finds himself. A united Democracy, led by a strong and popular reform Governor, could ask no more helpful influence than the blunder of Saturday.

SNARES SET BY STAND PATTERS---TAFT'S TARIFF COMMISSION IS A FOOLER

Designed to Catch Votes of Unwary Progressives—
There is Only One Kind of Insurgency That Counts.

If you are a level-headed, sound-thinking Republican, just give your mind for a moment to the contemplation of inconsistent declarations in the platform adopted by the insurgent Republicans of California at their state convention.

Allegiance of the party in California is pledged to the "progressive" Republican policies enunciated by President Roosevelt and reaffirmed and already in part enacted into law under the administration of President Taft.

How is that for bocus-pocus? If the progressive policies of Roosevelt have been reaffirmed and partly enacted into law under the administration of President Taft, what are Roosevelt and his new school of "progressives" hollering about? But the sublime foolishness of the California insurgent platform is its endorsement of the Taft tariff commission, to-wit: "We therefore join with the president in demanding the appointment of a permanent tariff commission, wholly removed from the possibility of political pressure or improper business influences;" and "as fast as its recommendations are made, congress should revise one schedule at a time;" and, "we oppose any future general revision, based upon insufficient data to determine the amount of protection actually needed."

Now if a whole capitol building full of congressmen and senators can not keep a party platform promise to revise the tariff downward, how can a commission of three men appointed by partisan choice to do party service be expected to act without "political pressure" or be removed from "improper business influences" that are strong enough to control the majority in both branches of congress? Then, too, the declaration in favor of revising one schedule at a time and against a future general revision is but a pretext for procrastination and circumlocution that will end finally in nothing being done, if bad is not made worse.

This expression in the California platform bears out the declared purpose of the Taft administration to make of the tariff commission a soft place to light on for all its tariff tumbling. Having revised the tariff upward in violation of the platform promises of 1908, the administration would cajole the people to wait and wait and wait and fix their hopes for relief upon the actions of a commission named by and serving under the direct influence of a president who has proclaimed the present tariff law to be the best tariff ever passed. And if this iniquitous tariff is to be revised one schedule at a time, in accordance with the most approved kind of "political pressure" and "business influences," there are boys in their cradles today who will grow up to be great-grandfathers before a young men who need their GYMNASIUM for their BODIES, their evening MORAL INFLUENCE for their CHARACTER, their PLATF. The men it can train, the better it can boost the commerce of the city. Its growth has made present resources too small. It needs money to carry on its work. Help YOURSELF by helping the Y. M. C. A. to help some of YOUR BOYS.

The Y. M. C. A. is adding the temper of character to hundreds of Abie Martin says: Yesterday was Tifford Moots' birthday at Columbus and his wife gave him a straight handled umbrella so he wouldn't leave it hanging on a bar. Some folks are allus out at the right time. This doesn't mean they're dodging the Y. M. C. A. solicitors.

THIS AND THAT

This town needs more civic pride. The rainy, sloppy, slushy season is almost here. What is the condition of your sidewalk?

And now it looks like they've "lur the bug" on Congressman Tawney of Minnesota. The insurgents seem determined to make a clean sweep.

It's the easiest thing in the world to say what the other fellow ought to do, but it's sometimes hard to do it yourself.

The Y. M. C. A. is in the midst of a five-day campaign to raise $11,000 to carry out the remodeling project and prosecute the work for the next two years. The association needs your assistance.

The authorship of "The Inner Shrine" is again exciting no little speculation in Newark. A persistent report has it that Benj. L. Wilson, a brother-in-law of Edward Kibler, is the man to whom the honor is due but Mr. Kibler is not inclined to discuss the matter. Mr. Wilson is at the head of the successful Wilson School for Boys at Fishkill-on-the-Hudson.

The market is described as a waiting one, but it is a wise man who can say just what it is waiting for.—Financial America.

Report is current that the American Hide & Leather Co. was victim of a theft. Skinned, as it were.—Financial America.

The farical duties of the tariff is Miss Ida M. Tarbell's subject in the October American Magazine. She pays particular attention to the inequalities of the wool schedule and points out its amazing injustices.

A large national advertiser in Chicago writes to the Advocate as follows: "Your paper is the best in Newark and we know it, you know it, Mr. —, druggist, knows it, and we thank you for the many courtesies you are extending to us." It is such expressions as this that makes one want to make an effort.

Every Woman FROM THE PEOPLE
To the Editor:—Will you permit me to say a few words through your paper in reply to D. M. who criticized the picture in connection with the Y. M. C. A. campaign?
In the first place the illustration, as I take it, was not intended to portray the attitude or teachings of the Y. M. C. A. The man who was labeled "Good Citizen" and who was pictured as inviting others to join in contributing to the Y. M. C. A. fund happened to be smoking a good cigar. Does D. M. contend that no "Good Citizen" smokes or that the Y. M. C. A. should not accept a contribution from one who smokes?
I have no special defense for smoking, but neither do I have any harsh criticism for one who does smoke. Perhaps the man who criticizes smoking in others has himself certain habits or tendencies that should be eliminated. Very few of us are perfect.
D. M. makes a good point in criticizing people who smoke in ice cream parlors or elsewhere when those about him are offended, but the odor of tobacco is not offensive to many. People who smoke should not smoke when to do so displeases those present and in no humble indictment of M. should not criticize "Good Citizens" just because he happens to smoke. I know a great many "Good Citizens" who use those who disapprove of the weed will all join in helping to swell the Y. M. C. A. fund. Citizens.

REVENUE CUTTERS.

Varied Duties of These Life Savers of the Seas.

No men in the employ of Uncle Sam render more efficient service than do those of the revenue cutter service. The term "revenue," which would indicate that their duties were restricted to those pertaining to the proper enforcement of the revenue laws, can give but a faint notion of the varied duties of this splendid corps of men. As a matter of fact, revenue cutters are the life savers of the seas. They patrol the coasts on regular beats, on the watch for vessels in distress. They must suppress mutinies, prevent smuggling and illicit seal hunting; they must examine ships' papers, enforce quarantine regulations, supply lighthouses and in general do all kinds of police work. Then, too, they have been dubbed "the messenger boys of the seas."

Alexander Hamilton was the father of the revenue cutter service, for it was under his administration of the treasury department that, in 1791, ten cutters were built and put in commission under rules of his own devising. In time of peace the cutters are under the supervision of the treasury department, but in times of war they are transferred to that of the navy department. Since the war of 1812 they have always rendered excellent service in the event of armed hostilities. Every one remembers the remarkable work done by the McCulloch, under Dewey, at the battle of Manila Bay.—New York Press.

A GEM OF POESY.

Maybe It Was the Heat That Made It Burst Into Being.

Stewart Edward White, William Kent and myself were hunting mountain sheep in the ranges of Mexican California. Perhaps because the savage heat of the desert which we were crossing had somewhat gone to our brains we fell to making poetry upon various aspects of desert life. White rhapsodized upon the jack rabbit. I sang the dispraises of the jack rabbit. Finally White, who was cook for the day, offered a special prize of duff with raisins (the last remnant of our store) for the premier verse to be turned out before sunset. At noon we met up with a wandering prospector, who introduced himself as J. Noel Benson, native son of California, and observed upon learning of our literary efforts that he was some poet himself. On being invited to enter the list he retired to the top of a mesa, where the thermometer was something like 110 in the absence of shade, and after half an hour of self communion returned with the following gem of poetry:

THE GNAT.

The gnat he is a noisome mite.
He loves to buzz. He loves to bite.
He crawls upon you when you're hot.
I love the noisome gnat—nit—not!
The duff was awarded to him without protest from the other contestants.

How Leap Year Started.

Hampson, in his "Medii OEVI. Kalendarium," quotes the following quaint tradition from an old Saxon treatise: "Some assert that the bissextus or leap day comes through this, that Joshua prayed to God that the sun might stand still for one day's length that he might sweep the heathen from the land that God had granted him and his followers. It is true that the sun did stand still for one day's length over the city of Gabaon, but the day went forward in the same manner as other days. And the bissextus is not through that, as some do think."

In France and some parts of Spain and Portugal there exists a tradition known as "the ghost of leap year." Believers in this say that a marvelous monster annually appears on leap day and disarranges human affairs for the remainder of the year.

A Royal Apology.

King Edward VII. was never at a loss for a quick, suitable answer. One day he was coming around a street corner on one of his periodical walks in London when he collided with a very stout person, who, being near-sighted, did not recognize the king, took him by the lapel of his coat and gave him a tongue lashing. "Do you know, sir," finished the irate man, "that I am a member of the London council?" "In that case I beg your pardon," replied the king, "for I am only the King of Great Britain."

Just the Other Way.

Rudyard Kipling was once visiting at a country house at which Miss Dorothy Drew, the famous granddaughter of Mr. Gladstone, then a little girl, was also staying. She was sent out into the garden with the distinguished author.

Later on when the other grownups joined them, little Miss Dorothy was asked, "I hope you didn't bore Mr. Kipling?"

"No, but he bored me frightfully," was the unexpected and resigned reply.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hark's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from two drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impair digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is listless, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the agent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

HILL CLIMBING.

Food That Makes It a Pleasure.

"I have a large amount of laborious brain-forging work to do," writes a young lady from Richmond, Va. "After returning from the office I have found myself so completely exhausted that I was unable to engage in any recreation or amusement."

"I tried several expensive tonics without effect, and finally noticing an advertisement of Grape-Nuts as a food recommended to brain workers, I purchased a package and tried it. I found it extremely palatable, and after a week's use (two meals a day) I noticed a general improvement in my condition. The feeling of extreme exhaustion was growing less, and strength visibly increased."

I began to put on flesh and felt ready to enter into the amusements of the other members of the family and now after using the food for 11 months I am like a new person. I do not have the sensation of fatigue; my brain is clear; eyes bright; skin rosy and healthy; and my muscles have strengthened to a marked degree."

"I am now able to walk from the office home, a distance of 3 1-2 miles up one of the steepest hills for which our city is famous, and to engage in any amusement that may come in my way."

"I am also using Postum with excellent results. My sister-in-law, who lives in Norwalk, Conn., writes me that she uses it also, and has not suffered from the distressing sick headaches she formerly had."

MAN ORDER HOUSES ARE TRUSTS

Monopoly Crouching Under the Cloak of Economy.

Completely engrossed in the struggle for existence, weak and exhausted from the relentless pace to which he is driven, mankind lives in ignorance and disregard of the steadily growing strength of monopoly, callous to all the warning of its danger, until he is awakened by some supreme imposition to find that he is held almost entirely in the bonds of slavery. But with all its endeavors and cunning, monopoly has never yet been able to conquer, for mankind when aroused and united, fighting in the cause of right as against wrong, has proven to possess a force unconquerable and irresistible.

We know monopoly continues to aggress, and we are told that its ways are and that we are fighting intelligently against its success, though in spite of all our efforts it seems ever to be increasing with irresistible force.

Trust after trust has been attacked and engaged in battle by governments of the states and nation, and the din of conflict may now be heard on every side. By timely effort we believe we may be able to keep it under some reasonable control, but how futile our efforts have been and how ridiculous our security seems when we are told that here is one trust or monopoly more powerful and threatening than any other that has ever existed, and about which few of us have any knowledge, and regarding which still less consideration has been given. This monopoly, crouching under the cloak of economy and frugality, strikes at the very heart of our national life, and uses as its means for the accomplishment of our destruction the very citizens who will be the most to suffer.

Equitable Distribution.

Sound economical conditions which produce prosperity and happiness demand a just distribution of the products of labor and of the earth. The more equally, and generally are these products distributed, the more universal is prosperity and happiness. Those, therefore, to whom the burden of this distribution is given are the ones who should be held strictly accountable just in proportion to the amount with which he becomes intrusted to distribute. Whoever acquires worldly goods and is able to spend or distribute them should have some concern for the welfare of his fellow men. He owes it as a duty to mankind, to himself and to his posterity to spend it so intelligently as to do the most good.

Does a man who reaps from the soil of the locality or receives the benefits from the labor of the community in which he lives act faithfully to his neighbors or to himself, or to his children, when he sends the products of that industry to some monopolistic concern in a far distant place to trade for goods which he could secure in his own town? Does he not, by diverting the profits of that trade to another source, rob those of his own locality of their rightful share of worldly goods, and help to increase the plentiful hoard already accumulated in the lap of monopoly? Has he not, as a custodian of funds intrusted to his care, proven disloyal and unworthy of his trust? It may never have occurred to him that this is wrong; it may not even be considered a crime in the eyes of the law, but this dropping of the pennies into the coffers of the Caesars is a moral crime in the eyes of right and justice, as brazen and diabolical as is murder in the eyes of the common law.

Home trade is the blessing of civilization and the salvation of mankind from the claws of monopoly. You may be a working man, who labors all the day or as a superintendent or subordinate in some factory, shop or undertaking, and you return home at night bodily exhausted; you may be a clerk or manager, who is confined in your employment to the indoors of your establishment and leave it mentally fatigued at the end of the day; or perhaps you are engaged in your own business and find you must keep busy every minute and plan and worry to keep going; or maybe you are a farmer toiling in the fields directing or assisting others from early dawn to sunset, wherever you are, or wherever you may be. If you are engaged in any occupation, your nature must be affected by your surroundings. You are either a better or worse man, you are either happy or disconsolate, hopeful or discouraged according to the environment in which you live. You have your home and that you endeavor to maintain and improve.

You owe your wife the best and happiest surroundings you can create for her, and it is your duty to provide your children with a good education, raise them amidst culture and refinement. This you can not accomplish if you continue to rob your home merchants of their rightful profits from distribution and continue to enrich some far-distant neighborhood at their expense.—Anti-Mall Order Journal, New York City.

COMMUNICATED

Editor Advocate: How would the following suit you for a brief report of Candidate Harding's opening speech at Kenton last Friday, as read between the lines? M. R. Scott.

"My friends and fellow citizens, I am happy to meet you on this occasion and to inform you that the Republican party is still alive and that although the election returns from Maine are a bit discouraging, we are confident of carrying Ohio next November."

"Notwithstanding the high tariff speech which you have just heard from the distinguished secretary of agriculture, I beg leave to assure you and I hope I shall be able to convince you that if the Republican party can find anything wrong in the Payne-Aldrich tariff, we will revise it as soon as we can do so in accordance with the sacred principles of protection—that is, as soon as the tariff commission tells us what changes to make and the various interested interests give their consent."

"You are all familiar, I suppose, with the terms 'stand-patters,' 'progressives' and 'insurgents.' For my part I don't want any of these terms applied to myself, as long as I am your candidate, at least; but I suppose I will have to give the people permission to call me either a stand-patter, progressive or a progressive stand-patter, as they may prefer."

"If the newspapers reported me correctly, I delivered a number of Chautauqua addresses during the early summer which bore a pretty decided stand-pat color. I am very similar, if my memory is correct, to the address you have just heard from Secretary Wilson. But that was when I thought the 'permanence issue' in this campaign would be the defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff, and that we would not have much to do but shout the shibboleth of protection and remind the people that the Republican party was the party of Abraham Lincoln."

"I frankly confess to you that it would be personally more agreeable to me—those of you familiar with my political record know how many years I trained with that distinguished high priest of high protection and silver mine attorney, of the Standard Oil Company, J. B. Ford, and I say it would be personally more agreeable to me to join issue with the so-called insurgent Republican and stand for the Payne-Aldrich tariff as the best ever enacted by congress; but there is such a widespread dissatisfaction with this tariff, due in large measure to a mis-understanding of its provision, that I must therefore conclude that it is not altogether perfect, and must needs become the people that the Republican majority in the next congress—if there should be such a majority—will ever all its defects, in our leaders can only find our way they are."

"Ah, I have just noticed that Senator Dick has been on the platform. Although neither he nor Senator Burton is on the program, and he is therefore not expected to take part in this opening of our campaign, I wish somebody would tell me whether Mr. Dick is really our candidate for United States senator and whether we are to consider him a factor in our campaign. But perhaps I will learn all about his status quo as the campaign progresses."

"I assure you that I have great respect for our distinguished ex-president, Theodore Roosevelt, but it is not altogether agreeable to me to read everything he says about the 'predatory interests' and the 'malefactors of great wealth'—that is I

SOME POINTERS

In Buying or Building Homes by the Ad Writer of the Buckeye State Building and Loan Company, Rankin Building, 22 West Gay Street, Columbus, Ohio.

1. Buy or build within your means. Many people make the mistake of buying or building a home too expensive for their pocketbook. When the home costs more than they really can afford, it frequently happens that they get into debt deeper and deeper, and eventually lose all. The happy family is the one living within their means and whose members save something each month. Such families soon pay for their homes. Our assets $4,200,000. (See second next month.)

DENNISON HOTEL, COLUMBUS, OHIO

ROADS REUNION.

The third annual reunion of the Roads descendants was held August 21st at the old homestead once owned by their great grandfather, their grandfather, then their father, and now a daughter, Mrs. John W. Bretz.

This being one hundred years since our grandfather came here, with wife and one babe, we met in honor of our centennial anniversary, inviting all our kith and kin to celebrate with us, also a few of the old neighbors. We were met at the car line by Bro. J. W. Bretz and conveyed to his home, where we met his hospitable wife, who is ever ready to "welcome travelers home."

The forenoon was spent in getting acquainted and in a very sociable manner. Invocation by Eld. Thomas of Kentucky, after which a sumptuous dinner of elegant style was served above the groans of a greatly burdened table in the shadow of a large apple tree, and all did justice to the good things thereon, after which a business meeting was called to order by the president, Alexander M. Smith.

At the roll call, 75 responded, total 92, 26 absent, 2 deceased, Margery Smith and Lud L. Tussing of Columbus, whose "tribute of respect" was read and ordered spread upon the minutes.

The genealogy of Abram Roads and his descendants to the present time was given by Hulda C. Tussing, daughter of Joe Roads.

Our program was dispensed with to hear from relatives and visitors. The first speaker was John Ruffner of Hebron. He wore and exhibited our great grandfather's wedding hat 123 years old. The great grandfather, John Roads was born in Page county, Virginia in 1767. In 1782 he married Catherine Brubaker, and to this union was born two sons and three daughters, John Abraham, Mary Barbara and Elizabeth.

Elizabeth married Martin Beaver; Mary married John Ruffner Sr.; Barbara married John Reese Sr.; John Roads married Margaret Winegarner; Abraham Roads married Anna Beaver. Other speakers were Mrs. James Black of Hebron, and John Beaver of Rushsylvania, who compared the family circle to a tree with all its spreading branches, and suggests a complete history of "The Roads" be written in pamphlet form and rendered to the association.

Mrs. Mary Roads Boyd, 76 years old, of Marion, met many old friends, as well as new ones.

Rebecca Beaver, 83 years, of Hebron, was glad that she came.

Mrs. Joseph Beaver of Columbus spoke very appreciatively. She is 73 years of age.

Asa Beaver of Astland, Oregon, said this meeting would pay him for his long journey.

Abraham Smith of Liganier, Ind.; Ira Beaver of Hebron; Lewis Ruffner of Millersport; Mrs. Nellie Rod Brown of Galion, read a letter written by our great grandfather in 1812, when here to his family yet in Virginia; Miss Christina Beaver of Rushsylvania delivered a declaration. C. M. Winegarner of Reynoldsburg; Stephen Vermilion of Newark; Marshall Thomas of Winchester, Ky.

We will just say the day was far too short. Total number present, 154; visitors present, 84. Adjourned to meet the last Wednesday in August, 1911, at Clifton W. Tussing's, near Brice, O., on T. & C. railroad. Also meet at Brice's Pike on Traction line. Relatives invited.

Hulda C. Tussing, Secy.

SHOT DIVORCEE

And Gun User Afterward Hanged Himself at the County Jail in Cleveland.

Cleveland, Sept. 22.—A man who is thought to be E. W. Yates of Detroit last night shot and seriously wounded Mrs. Fred Singer, a local divorcee, at a road house in Rocky River last night. He was taken to the county jail and found dead there this morning. He had hanged himself. No cause is known for the shooting, and the hospital authorities will let Mrs. Singer see no one. She has a chance to live.

MAY BE DETROIT CITIZEN.

Detroit, Sept. 22.—There is only one E. W. Yates in the Detroit city directory. He is a well-to-do retired merchant and his family said today that they understood he was in Ontario, Canada.

The son of B. W. Yates here after hearing the details of the Cleveland tragedy and a description of the clothes worn by the dead man, admitted that the man was probably his father.

He says he has told Mrs. Yates nothing of the death, and will not until he gets more accurate information. Yates was rated as a millionaire by his business associates here and every one regarded him as a model husband and father.

CHIC VISITING GOWN.

A morning bridge at a fashionable hotel in Atlantic City last week brought a stunning array of gowns and none were more admired than one of satin messaline with a ground of shot pink and black, scattered all over with flaky drops of white. As indicated by sketch, the skirt was of the hobble type, without exaggeration, and held in at knee depth with a band of Jet passementerie. Bottom of skirt was finished with three deep tucks, and in back a tunic drapery fell to bottom of top tuck.

A deep girdle of material, tightly shirred, joined skirt and bodice, the latter of the magayr style, with Dutch neck and three-quarter sleeves, both artistically trimmed with jet passementerie.

PURCHASES VIOLIN OF LOCAL MAKER

One of the most magnificent pieces of workmanship turned out by Mr. George Conway, the violin maker, has been completed and will be delivered to the purchaser, Miss Weaver of the Denison Conservatory of Music Saturday. It is a "Stran" model and is made of two separate kinds of wood, which Mr. Conway has never worked in the same manner as he has done in this "fiddle." Another feature is the use of a new varnish which gives the instrument both beauty and the "velvety" finish which many connoisseurs believe to be a lost art.

Miss Weaver is indeed fortunate in getting this valuable instrument, as Mr. Conway has been offered a price in advance of that for which she has contracted, by violinists from Columbus and Zanesville.

PRESSED HARD.

Coffee's Weight On Old Age.

When prominent men realize the injurious effects of coffee and the change in health that Postum can bring, they are glad to lend their testimony to the benefit of others. A superintendent of public schools in a southern state says: "My mother, since her early childhood, has been an inveterate coffee drinker, had been troubled with her heart for a number of years, and complained of that 'weak all over' feeling and sick stomach."

"Some time ago I was making an official visit to a distant part of the country and took dinner with one of the merchants of the place. I noticed a somewhat peculiar flavor of the coffee and asked him concerning it. He replied that it was Postum. I was so pleased with it that, after the meal was over, I bought a package to carry home with me, and had wife prepare some for the next meal; the whole family liked it so well that we discontinued coffee and used Postum entirely."

"I had really been at times very anxious concerning my mother's condition, but we noticed that after using Postum for a short time, she felt so much better than she did prior to its use, and had little trouble with her heart and no sick stomach; that the headaches were not so frequent, and her general condition much improved. This continued until she was as well and hearty as the rest of us."

"I know that Postum has benefited myself and the other members of the family, but in a more marked degree in the case of my mother, as she was a victim of long standing."

Ever read the above letter. A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

LETTERS MADE PUBLIC

non grata' as ambassador. He promised me that the next ambassador to Paris would be Mr. Storer and furthermore expressed the belief that General Porter would soon retire. The president also told me that he had commissioned Mr. Storer to speak for him viva voce at the Vatican. He seemed rather proud of having done so.

On February 2, 1904, the archbishop wrote to Mrs. Storer:
"Your two letters were read and burnt. However, you need have no anxiety whatsoever about the whole affair, which was the chief subject matter of those letters. The president had no occasion to feel ruffled in the least, but you know his impulsiveness. When I saw him he of his own account told me of his writing to you, and asked me how publicity was given to the matter. I said the Scripps-McKee agency had merely made a guess (as to Mr. Storer's coming to Rome), and that the few unfavorable comments that followed amounted to really nothing."

He calmed down completely, remarked that he had every confidence in you and hoped that the outcome of your mission would be what all desired."

Mr. Roosevelt's letter to Mr. Storer, dated Nov. 17, 1896, concerning the desired appointment as assistant secretary of the navy, was as follows: "Dear Bellamy: I have been thinking over that business and now will you let me write perfectly frankly?—If you care to say anything for me, old fellow, I think you could say it better a good deal if I were away. So unless you think to the contrary, or unless there is some reason for a change, I believe that it would be best for me to come and dine with you, and then you see McKinley by yourself, if you care to do so at all, which I earnestly hope you will. Give my best love to Mrs. Storer. Faithfully yours,

Theodore Roosevelt.
"P. S.—I hope you won't think this somewhat impudent. I should rather have you speak in my behalf than any one in the United States, and I think you could do most good, but I rather hate to go there with you, for somehow, it doesn't seem to me that it would be a good thing for you to speak for me before me."

"T. R."

WAS SENSATION IN 1906.

New York, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Bellamy Storer, wife of Mr. Bellamy Storer, who has been minister to Belgium and Spain and ambassador to Austria, caused a sensation in 1906, when she engaged in a controversy with Theodore Roosevelt, then president, following the removal of her husband as United States ambassador at Vienna that year.

Mrs. Storer was charged by the executive with "meddling" in affairs of state and Mr. Storer severely criticized Mr. Roosevelt for abusing Mrs. Storer. Incidentally a lot of interesting correspondence between Mr. Roosevelt and Mrs. Storer, which raised the question of veracity between the disputants, gained widespread publicity.

Mrs. Storer was the only daughter of Judge Langworth of Cincinnati, from whom she inherited money and social influence. She married George Ward Nichols, from whom she separated some years later. She then married Bellamy Storer and thereafter caused much gossip by renouncing the Episcopal faith for Catholicism after a series of consultations with Archbishop Ireland, whose support of the National Republican ticket in 1904, which was headed by President McKinley, made him a national figure.

Mr. Storer had served several years in congress from Ohio, and in 1897 was appointed minister to Belgium by President McKinley. In 1899 he was transferred to Spain and in 1902 he was made ambassador to Austria-Hungary. It was while in Vienna that Mrs. Storer was charged with meddling in affairs of state, and which led directly to the removal of Mr. Storer from his post.

In a letter addressed to Mr. Roosevelt, the members of his cabinet and the senate committee on foreign relations, a December 1906, Mr. Storer defended his wife against the charge, and in justifying her said that Mr. Roosevelt's protest to elevate Archbishop Ireland to the cardinalate upon which the charge of "meddling" was based, was supported by Mr. Roosevelt as far back as 1899, when Mr. Roosevelt was governor of New York, and was abandoned only when Mr. Roosevelt desired ed the promotion of Archbishop Farley of New York City.

Mr. Roosevelt, fearing that his letters dealing with Catholic matters would become public, "covered" himself in subsequent letters that he could assume indication at him for doing what he has been requested to do—that is appear at the Vatican to promote Archbishop Ireland's interests. This plan, he wrote, was approved by the then secretary of war, now President Taft.

POLICE COURT

The fact that John Stuyva had only been in Newark and in fact in the United States four months, saved him a $50 fine in police court this morning. John was arrested last evening by Chief Hindel and Patrolmen Gorman, Abbott, Petrey and Hurlbaugh charged with violating the Bow Law, and during the raid a case of whisky was found.

He was locked up and the booze, which was found in his boarding house, 144 Leroy street, was confiscated. This morning it was learned that he had only been in America four months and was not familiar with the laws. He was fined $25 and costs, but Mayor Ankles suspended that fine pending good behavior. Stuyva wanted his honor back but that was refused him.

The Lash of a Fiend

would have been about as welcome to A. Cooper of Oswego, N. Y., as a merciless, lung-racking cough that defied all remedies for years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes. "Nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery, which cured me completely. I never coughed at night now. Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lungs, laryngitis, asthma, hemorrhage, croup, whooping cough, asthma or hay fever. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. A trial convinces, 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. It's positively guaranteed by F. D. Hall.

Funeral of Meets Wright Occurred
Thursday Morning From Home
On North Street.

Dr. W. H. Knapp, health officer of the city of Newark, issued orders Wednesday evening that the casket containing the remains of Meets Wright, which arrived here from Antwerp, Belgium, should not be opened in Newark, and that the body, under the law, would have to be treated the same as one that is disinterred, around which many state guards are thrown. Dr. Knapp informed the family of the deceased that it would be necessary for them to obtain permission from the State Board of Health to open the casket, but this was not done, and the body was buried just as it had arrived from Belgium. The casket was removed from Cross Bros. & Jones undertaking parlors and taken to the home, 23 North street and placed on the porch, the many beautiful floral offerings being artistically arranged about it. At 10 o'clock services were conducted by Rev. L. C. Spates, after which the funeral cortege moved to Cedar Hill cemetery, where the body was consigned to the grave.

The Spanish War Veterans, G. A. R., U. V. L. and Women's Relief Corps attended the funeral, besides a large number of relatives and friends.

WOMAN INJURED AT WILSON RESORT BY WM. BOLTON

Grace Langdon, 24, an inmate of Georgia Wilson's resort, 112 Walnut street, lies at the Sanitarium suffering from injuries alleged to have been made by William Bolton about 1:40 o'clock Thursday morning. Bolton is said to have attacked her with a club, breaking her arm and inflicting several bruises and cuts about her head.

Just what caused the trouble is not known, but about 1:30 o'clock a hurried call was sent to police headquarters from the resort, the informant saying that Bolton was killing the Langdon woman. Patrolmen Perrey, Albott and Harbarch were hurried to the place in the patrol and Bolton was placed under arrest and locked up in the city prison.

The ambulance of Criss Bros. & Jones was called and the injured woman was taken to the Sanitarium and Dr. P. H. Cosner was called to attend her. Bolton is said to have been drinking heavily the last few days and the assault is said to have been made during a drunken rage. Bolton was not arraigned in police court Thursday morning and he will be held until the full extent of the woman's injuries are determined.

FAVORS STONE PILE FOR THE REGULARS

If Mayor Anacle has his way about it a stone pile will soon be put in use at the city prison and prisoners instead of being fined will be made to work out their dues by cracking time-stone which the city can use in repairing unpaved streets.

"There are lots of regulars that don't mind being sent to the county jail and they never have money to pay fines, so I think this stone pile would be a pretty good proposition. Some men who have the habit of drinking up their salaries and depriving their families of life's necessities would be made to crack stone for several days and the money they would earn, about 75 cents a day, would be turned over to the man's wife. A few trips to themselves p. wyawayaways trips to the stone pile would break up that pay day habit," the mayor said Wednesday.

The stone pile has been tried in Newark several times but has always been abandoned, but Mayor Anacle thinks it can be made into pretty good proposition for the city and will furnish well dressed stone for the streets that need attention.

Life of Air Leaks Away.

Air seems to spoil easily. Air traveling through shafts and special air chambers—in fact, air going through anything that cuts it off from the ocean of atmosphere—loses some of its indescribable vitalizing qualities and is liable to cause weariness and a feeling of depression to those who habitually breathe in artificially ventilated houses. Scientific examination may show such air absolutely pure, but all the same it is poor stuff to take into the lungs. This also explains the real rock bottom difference between town and country air. Highly artificial food and highly artificial air, no matter how good they seem, are not the real stuffs themselves. New York Press.
